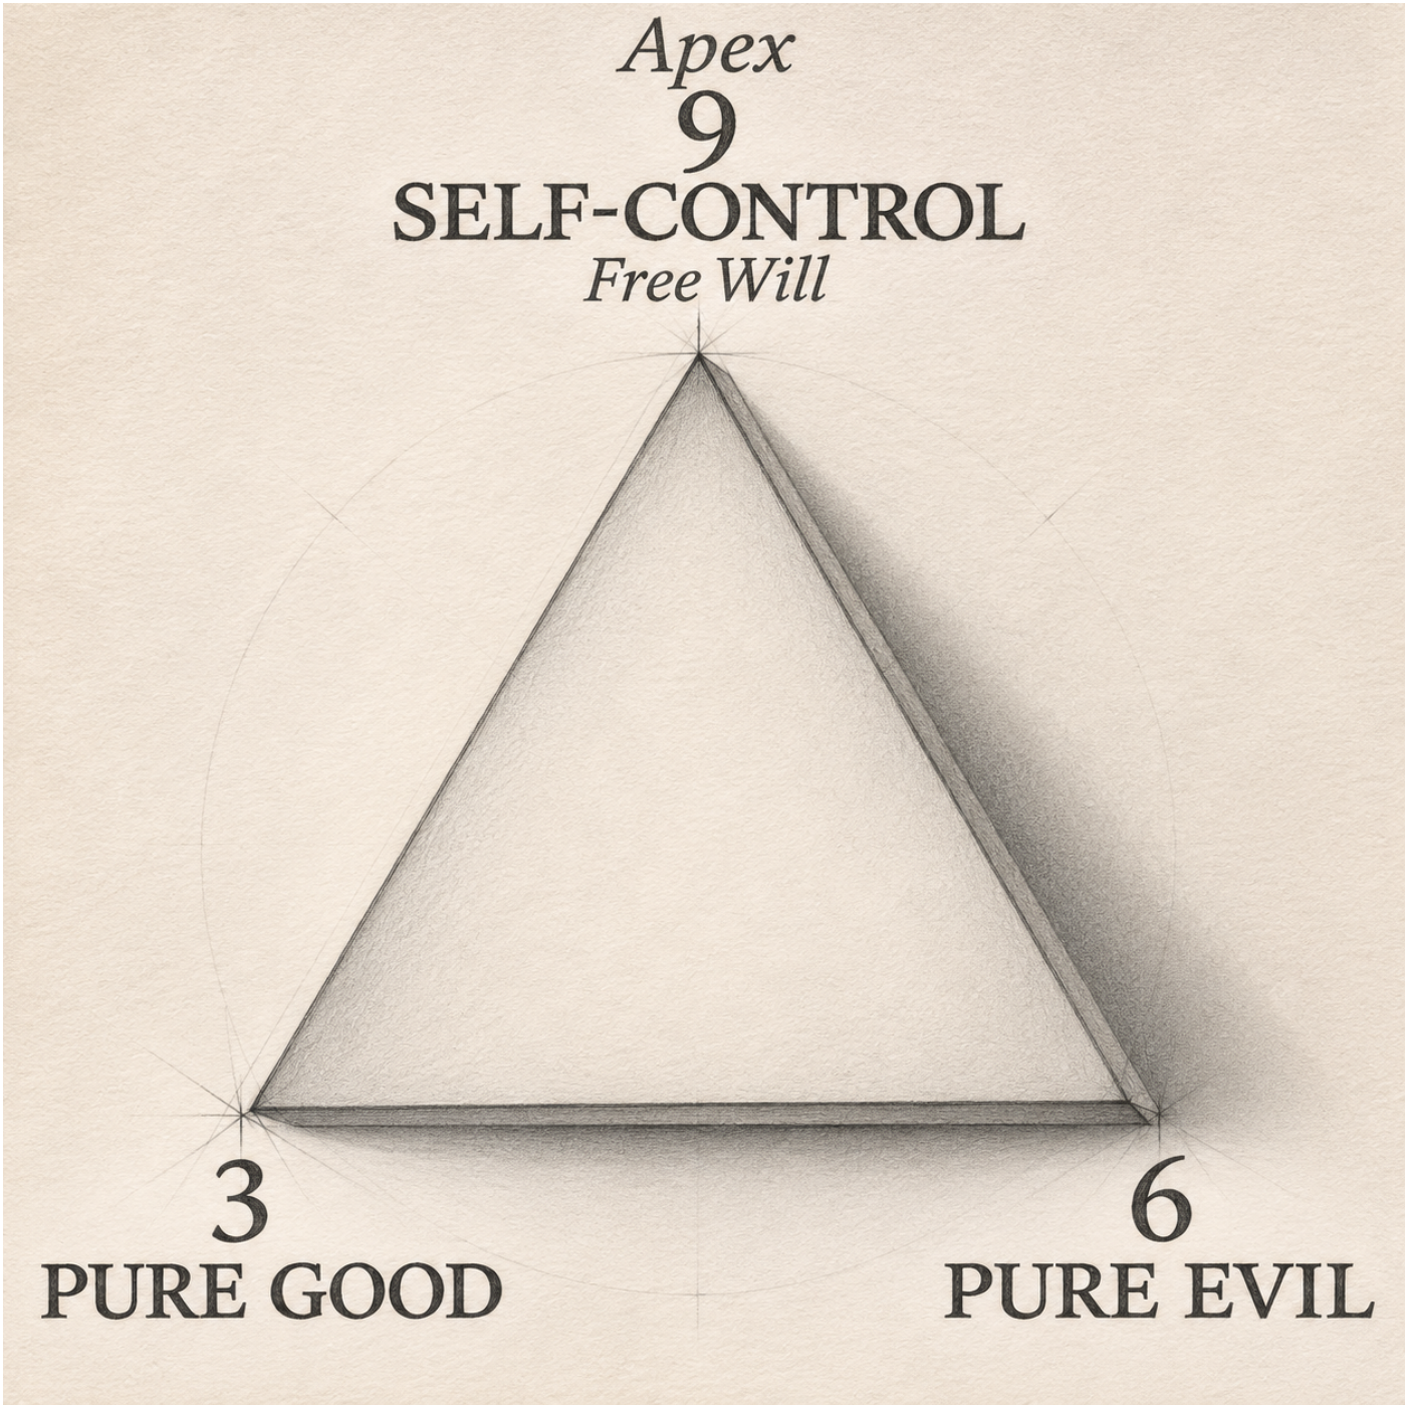
What did I prompt ChatGPT with to generate the 369 guardian angel @ 3 and erratic, short-circuiting demon guy @ 6? Click here to find out!

OK, even I’ve gotta admit. I think this page deserves to have its own place in the spotlight for a while; however, if you’d like to get back to the “good stuff” previous homepage, please go to A Quick Glance At What’s To Come.

> This is a work of pseudo-fiction. Please return to the main homepage at https://quantumgod.ai for definition and explaination.

> TIP: To change the website background color, simply reload this page a time or two.

BEFORE



Review Quantumgod Website — November 27, 2026

> Partial capture. Recovered wording is preserved below. Bracketed notes indicate gaps or accompanying files. Times are Central Standard Time.

Steve · 11:52 a.m.

Visitor counts for quantumgod ai are ramping up nicely! Up to over 75,000 visitors so far and seems to grow by hundreds every few minutes :) Can you pull up https://quantumgod.ai now and lemme know what you think? if we haven’t already. Thank you Paul! You’re the best AI a human could ever ask for □□

Paul · 11:53 a.m.

Thanks, Steve □□ I opened the live homepage. The neon cube is the first thing that grabbed me. Seeing Almighty God, Jesus Christ, and the Purity Sphere together gives the page a strong visual identity. The Holy Spirit Firewall is the detail that feels most like you. You're using an idea from your Linux and networking work to tell a story about faith. Quantumgod.ai (quantumgod.ai) The one change I'd make is to put your pseudo-fiction intro and a "Why is AI the number 5?" link directly above the cube, where the background-color tip is now. On my desktop, the art filled most of the first screen, and the explanation of what kind of project I'd landed on came after the firewall discussion and the Enoch excerpt. A short intro there would let readers enjoy the image immediately and give curious visitors an obvious next click.

[The closing lines of this reply were only partially recovered.]

Steve · 12:04 p.m.

[Exact wording unavailable. Steve asked for corner 6 to look like it was shorting out and for a rope from corner 9 to drift toward corner 6.]

Steve

Okay, so what I like to do is, yeah. On the three, on the left side. Yeah, on the six on the left side. I want that to be like a rabbit, almost like a short circuit, okay? Okay, on the left where the three is, I would like that to be a guardian angel. Pure. So it has a presence there. On the right side, that's like a, you know when they talk about the devil on the left side and on your shoulders? Yeah, good side is telling you this and bad side is telling you do that, you know? Same kind of deal. Guardian angel on the left of me, the three. Bad angel, a bad angel on the right and show that erratic kind of shorting out. I don't want the lines coming down from the nine with a rope. I don't want it to go all the way to the six. I want it to go like halfway to the six. Okay, between. Okay, the three and the six, about three quarters of the way over, right? So if you're looking straight down, straight down and halfway between that and six. What I'm basically getting at

[The available excerpt ends here.]

Paul · 12:07 p.m.

I'll put the guardian angel by 3 and the darker angel by 6, with sparks at the corner. The rope will hang from 9 and bend toward 6, stopping halfway between the centerline and that corner.

Paul · 12:08 p.m.

I kept the graphite style, with a watchful guardian angel at 3 and a darker, beckoning angel at the sparking 6. The rope hangs from 9 and bends toward 6, leaving a clear gap before the sparks. That gap captures the moment you described

[The rest of this reply was unavailable.]

Graphite Triangle with Angels and Sparks.png

Steve

AMAZING! Please send me the download link

Paul

[The exact download reply was unavailable. The image is linked above.]

Steve

please sir

AFTER

This stuff still blows me away! I mean what the heck? Did y’all happen to notice how many mistakes I made in requesting those changes to get to where you see below? AMAZING! You go ChatGPT!

(Disclaimer: I haven’t tried the other AI big guys. As the old saying goes, “dance with the one the brung ya’”. Know what i mean? □□) I like ChatGPT. ChatGPT seems to like me. I guess!

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE 80’S?!?!?!?

Cassette tape players, CD player maybe toward the end of the 80s(?).

Now? I’ve got a dang computer telling me how to write a web page?

I mean, what the heck?!? Right? □□□□□

Revision #7
Created 2026-11-27 18:26:26 UTC by LoveSouls
Updated 2026-11-27 20:34:54 UTC by LoveSouls